CATHOLIC IDENTITY/RELIGIOUS EDUCATION
BASIC CATECHESIS-KEN CANTWELL-DRE 05/21/2017

79. What occurred on the first Pentecost? In Chapter 2 of the Book of Acts, we read, "When the time for Pentecost was fulfilled, they were all in one place together. And suddenly there came from the sky a noise like a strong driving wind, and it filled the entire house in which they were. Then there appeared to them tongues as of fire, which parted and came to rest on each one of them. And they were all filled with the Holy Spirit and began to speak in different tongues, as the Spirit enabled them to proclaim."

80. What does the word "advocate" mean? The word, advocate, is a legal term meaning lawyer or attorney who "represents" us, standing side-by-side as we journey to Heaven.

81. What does the word, Paraclete, mean? Paraclete is a Greek word meaning "the one who stands beside."

82. Why do we say that our bodies are "temples of the Holy Spirit"? When we are in the state of grace, we know that Jesus and the Father dwell in us, and wherever they are, there is the Holy Spirit.

83. As "temples of the Holy Spirit" what does the Church require? In life, we must respect and adhere to all teachings regarding the Fifth Commandment, and in death, we must follow Church rules regarding the corporal work of mercy to "bury the dead."

84. When do we first learn of the Holy Spirit in salvation history? In the story of creation in Genesis 1:2, we read explicitly: "The earth was formless and empty, and darkness covered the deep waters. And the Spirit of God was hovering over the surface of the waters." Or we read: "the earth was a formless wasteland, and darkness covered the abyss, while a mighty wind [Spirit] swept over the waters."

85. Do we have any knowledge of the Holy Spirit before Judeo-Christian history? Yes, Plato taught that man was governed by three forces: intellect, drive or "spirit" and appetite.

86. What are the "gifts" of the Holy Spirit received at Confirmation? The seven gifts of the Holy Spirit are: wisdom, understanding, counsel, fortitude, knowledge, piety, and fear of the Lord."

87. Name the "fruits" of the Holy Spirit? The twelve fruits of the Holy Spirit are: charity, joy, peace, patience, gentleness, goodness, long-suffering, mildness, faith, modesty, self-control, and charity.

Regrets, He Had a Few—Venerable Fulton Sheen

Darwin tells us in his autobiography that in his love for the biological he lost all the taste he once had for poetry and music, and he regretted the loss all the days of his life. Excessive love of the flesh kills the values of the spirit.

Please call Ken Cantwell at 620-3675 or the Office at 898-1779 to sign up for an hour of weekly Adoration before the Blessed Sacrament and Jesus will teach you how to balance correctly things of the flesh with things of the spirit.

GOD'S PILGRIMS

This Sunday the Church is preparing us for the Ascension of Jesus: "A little while, and now you shall not see Me...because I go to the Father." In John's Gospel (Ch. 16:16-22), which is taken from the discourse that Our Lord made to the Apostles at the Last Supper, His purpose was to prepare them for His departure, before He went to His Passion; but the Church presents this farewell speech of Jesus to us before His Ascension. Having accomplished His mission, Jesus must return to the Father who sent Him. One day we shall have to do the same; earth is not our lasting dwelling, but the place of our pilgrimage. Jesus has said so: "A little while, and now you shall not see Me: and again a little while, and you shall see Me..." These words which were confusing for the Apostles, who did not understand them, are now clear to us: "a little while"—that is our short lifetime, and very soon we too must leave the earth and follow Jesus to heaven where we shall see Him in glory. However, before reaching this happy state, we have to endure the difficulties, struggles, and sufferings of life on earth. Sad and thoughtful, the Apostles listened to Jesus, without courage to question Him. Like a kind father, the Lord broke the painful silence. "And now I go to Him that sent Me, and none of you ask Me: 'Where are You going?'" He hastens to console them: "It is expedient to you that I go, for if I do not go, the Holy Spirit will not come to you; but if I go, I will send Him to you." Only Jesus's death could merit this great gift for us, and it was not until after His Ascension into heaven that the Holy Spirit, the Envoy of the Father and the Son, could descend upon the Church. The Apostles were about to lose the physical presence of their adored Master. However, Jesus would not leave them orphans and would continue to help them invisibly by His Spirit, who would take up His work with them. Jesus did His work in a visible manner in their midst; the Holy Spirit would do His in a secret, hidden way, but in one no less efficacious and real. Furthermore, as Jesus Himself said, the action of the Holy Spirit would complete His. "I have yet many things to say to you: but you cannot bear them now. But when He, the Spirit of Truth, is come, He will teach you all truth." The hearts of the Apostles, still dulled by sin, could not really comprehend these profound truths: it was necessary that Jesus, by dying on the Cross, destroy sin—the great obstacle to the action of the Holy Spirit—and then, when Jesus had ascended into heaven, He would send the divine Paraclete whom He merited for them and for us by His Passion. The sending of the Holy Spirit to our souls is the principal fruit of the Passion of Jesus. We can draw some practical applications from the Ascension of Our Lord. First of all, we must fervently prepare ourselves for Pentecost, so that the coming of the Holy Spirit will be renewed in us. The Christian, God's pilgrim, cannot allow himself to be detained by the things of earth; he can use them and even enjoy them, but only with a detached heart which immediately leaves them behind. The life of a Christian is like that of a traveler in a foreign land, who never delays because he is anxious to get back to his own country. Since sin is the obstacle to the outpouring of the Holy Spirit, our preparation must consist of a very special purity of conscience in its deepest and most hidden roots. The chief purpose of the Holy Spirit is to purify the soul and dispose it for union with God. If the soul is convinced of this, it will remain confident, even in difficulties, and, if the soul neither understands nor sees its path, it will trust in the Holy Spirit, who sees and knows well the goal to which He is leading the soul. Finally, today's Gospel invites us to invoke the action of the Holy Spirit on the Church and the whole world: on the Church, to govern and direct Her in the accomplishment of Her mission; on the world, to convince it of the truth that it rejects. He will make it understand that justice and sanctity are found only in Our Savior, Jesus.
